

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

4.1 Conclusion

Based on the analysis, the types of error found in the data source can be classified into Singular-plural, Word form, Verb tense, Word choice, Add word, Omit word, Word order, Incomplete sentence, Spelling, Punctuation, Capitalization, Article, Meaning not clear, and Run on sentence. It was found 42 grammatical errors in the students' compositions. Most error found is error of spelling. There are 5 sentences that are error of spelling. And the smallest number of errors found are error of run on sentence and error of word form. There are 2 sentences in each.

The data are found in all of the students' compositions. It means all of the students make error in practicing their English. The students have learned English for some years in the junior high school, but they still make many errors in practicing their English. It is very big problem to the English teacher and institution related. There are some factors that made the students made some errors, such as; their age, their motivation, and the English as a foreign language.

4.2 Suggestion

Based on the errors in compositions by the students of SMKN 2 Tegallalang, there are some suggestions which may be relevant to the problems that are face by the students and the English teachers.

The complexity of English makes the students must be more serious in learning English in the school. They need much more practicing the theory that has learned such as reading, writing, listening, and speaking. And the students do not need to wait foreigner to practice their English. It would be much better that the students practice the English in social communication in daily life.

The teacher should give more grammatical exercises by giving task to create a paragraph with various topics to the students. It will help the students to enrich the vocabulary and explore the imagination to create the various sentences. And the teacher should give feedback towards the paragraph made by the students by giving correction and guidance. It can prevent the students' mistakes in practicing their English.
